STOP FOREIGN LANGUAGE IN NEWSPAPERS

Col. Roosevelt Makes This Demand in Speech at Fair in York State.

(By Associated Press) CHATHAM, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Theodore Roosevelt, in a speech here today at the Columbia County Fair on America's part in the war, urged enactment by Congress of legislation which would prohibit publication of newspapers printed in the tongue of any nation with which the United States is at war.

"We must have one language—the language of the Declaration of Independence, of Washington's Farewell Address, and of Lincoln's great speeches," the former President said in part. "The leading German papers of this country have been scandalously disloyal to the United States and to humanity."

"The obscene cruelty and brutality of the German armies under the explicit direction of the German government has been of such unspeakable foulness that it is a crime against this nation and against all mankind directly or indirectly to uphold Germany; and all who do not heartily back the United States, and the allies of the United States, against Germany are guilty of this crime, and are disloyal to this country."

"Above all, any man, and especially any Senator or Congressman or editor, who seeks to exempt Americans of German descent from service in the army against Germany is a traitor pure and simple; he should be proceeded against under the law, if possible, and if that is not possible the law should be amended so as to make his offense a crime."

The Colonel said "the highest honor at this time should be paid to the American in whole or in part of German blood whose loyalty to the United States in this crisis has been wholehearted and without reserve."

Besides insisting upon undivided Americanism, Colonel Roosevelt said the farmer and wage earner must receive justice. By direct action of the state, the farmer should be secured from exploitation, he declared, and producer and consumer brought together "without paying toll to those middlemen who do not serve useful purpose."

"The man who makes a huge profit out of the war," the Colonel continued, "is an enemy of his country; and an organization like the Industrial Workers of the World, which is playing the German game in this country, and whose preaching and practice spell destruction to civilization, is as much an enemy to this country as a hostile army."

"The unscrupulous profiteers and the workmen who refuse to do first class work for a first class wage are really allies of our enemies; and of course the pro-Germans, the professional pacifists, the men who wish an inconclusive peace or a peace without a victory, the Industrial Workers of the World, the Socialist machine, are not merely allies of our enemies, but are themselves our enemies."

"Let us bend our whole energies towards this end. Let us resolve that if all our allies should slip away from us we would nevertheless continue the war single handed until the end is attained. Let us heartily back up the government in every wise step it takes for the speedy achievement of this end; but let us, as patriots, not less clearly emphasize the fact that we demand from our government wisdom, energy and a spirit of broad Americanism and a patriotic absence of partisanship in thus prosecuting the war."

"Let us furthermore each as individuals do all we severally can to aid in securing the triumph. Let us live simply, cut out all extravagance, and all alcohol, show thrift, avoid waste, and do every bit of productive work we can, in agriculture or industry, in producing food, or clothing, or munitions, or in managing the transportation of the country. Let us cheerfully pay our increased taxes, subscribe to government loans, help the Red Cross and the Young Men's Christian Association, and all similar organizations while here trying to aid our sol."

"So far as our bodily strength and condition permit let us serve with our volunteers. If we are permitted, let us volunteer in the army or the navy; if we are drafted, let us treat the fact as a great privilege. Service should be that of man who in this world crisis is granted the supreme good fortune of risking his life and all else that he has for the honor of serving his country and mankind."

NO APPEAL FROM DISTRICT BOARDS

There seems to be an impression that after the district board has passed upon an appeal based on claim of dependents, that the appellant may thereafter appeal to the President of the United States. This is entirely erroneous. The decision of the district board in all such cases is absolutely final. The local board received information of this error by a letter this morning from Charleston and was instructed to make the correction.
